HUSBAND DEAD, WIFE DYING; EACH ACCUSED OTHER
"Candy" Cole, Auto Salesman, on Deathbed, Said Wife Threw Acid on Him.
WIFE IN BOSTON HOSPITAL
Former Singer Tells of Quarrel After Dance, and Says She Was Attacked.

Mrs. William Cole of 1375 Wagner terrace, a widow, today related to a Post-Dispatch reporter the peculiar circumstances under which her son, William H. Cole, died in Boston June 1 of sulphuric acid burns. The son's funeral was held here last Friday, with interment at Valhalla Cemetery.

The mother's statement was made after the receipt by the Post-Dispatch of Boston dispatches, stating that city detectives there were investigating Cole's ante-mortem statement that his wife had thrown the acid upon him in a quarrel following their return home from a Shriners' dance.

Mrs. Cole, the widow, is in a Boston hospital in a critical condition from sulphuric acid burns. She has contradicted her husband's statement, and insists that he threw the acid upon her and himself.

Her physician, Dr. P. G. Burns, telegraphed the Post-Dispatch yesterday that Mrs. Cole could not recover. He stated that an unsuccessful operation had been performed in the morning and that skin grafting also had failed.

Wife From Boston, Mo. Mrs. Cole, the mother, stated that her daughter-in-law was the daughter of the late Dr. Freezing of Boston, Scott County, Mo., and that her first husband was a St. Louis man named Nelson. Shortly after her marriage to Nelson, when she was 16 years old, they were separated and she was sent abroad for a musical education.

About three years ago, following her return to St. Louis, she purchased an automobile from the Hudson-Phillips Motor Car Co., where Cole, who was known to his friends as "Candy" Cole, was employed as the manager of the used-car department. After a brief courtship they were married at Edwardville, Mo., Dec. 25, 1915.

Soon after that Cole went to Boston as assistant manager of the Chalmers agency. He purchased a home in Brookline, a suburb.

"I was not notified of my son's condition until two weeks after he was burned," Mrs. William Cole said today. "I went to Boston, and my son, upon his deathbed, told me in the presence of the police, his story."

Wife Tells of Quarrel. "It was that his wife had become jealous while they were at a Shriners' dance, and had quarreled with him when they were returning home in their machine. My son left his car outside the house for the night."

800 NEW YORK GIRLS MISSING IN SIX MONTHS
Figures Brought Out by Cruger Girl's Death, Cause Inquiry Into Police Methods.

NEW YORK, June 20.—More than 800 girls between 10 and 20 years old have disappeared from home here since Jan. 1. It became known today coincidentally with an announcement that Police Commissioner Woods had ordered a searching inquiry into police methods.

The investigation is a direct outcome of the finding of the body of Ruth Cruger, a high school graduate, buried in the cellar of a motor cycle shop conducted by Alfredo Cocchi, for whom the Italian Government authorities are searching, at the request of the State Department.

Commissioner Woods today ordered Joseph A. Faurot, head of the detective bureau, to inquire thoroughly into the methods and operations of the detectives and policemen who failed to solve the Cruger mystery. The girl's body was not found through their efforts, but through private detectives employed by Mrs. Grace Humiston, a woman lawyer, who is counsel for the Cruger family.

She was instrumental in having the motor cycle shop cellar dug up, after the police had failed to take this step. Several policemen have been interrogated at Commissioner Woods' instigation during the last few days regarding their suspected friendliness with Cocchi.

Mrs. Humiston said today it was most imperative that the Government should make Cocchi's return certain, and that if a statement could be obtained from him he would involve so many important people that the case will be one of the most sensational ever exposed in this country.

"There is no," was the commissioner's order today in directing the investigation. All the detectives who worked on the Cruger case were instructed to report to headquarters at once. Other detectives will co-operate with Mrs. Humiston in an inquiry into the city's traffic in women.

"Ruth Cruger Found"
The $100 reward which Miss Cruger's father had offered for the girl's recovery, it was announced today, will be the nucleus of a "Ruth Cruger fund," which will be used to aid in the search for missing girls. Mrs. Humiston had returned the reward, but returned it.

While renewed efforts in the search for the Cruger family were being made, the police were in progress a piece of charred bone and various articles of girls' clothing found there last week were placed where they may be viewed by relatives of missing girls. Members of the Cruger family were invited to identify these articles as hers.

Commissioner Woods issued a statement urging parents of girls to report to the police any suspicious persons or places of interest. He said that the police were working on the Cruger case with the utmost care and that they were confident of its successful conclusion.

Commissioner Woods has ordered an excavation to be made of the cellar in every place where Cocchi has lived or had a motorcycle shop since his arrival in this country from Italy five years ago. Men from the Police Bureau of repairs and supplies will test every floor and wall of every building and a search will be conducted from roof to cellar.

The canvass among men of means, which was renewed by 24 teams of business and professional men this morning, yielded $425,484.55 in the first 24 hours. These being the revised figures of the receipts reported at yesterday's luncheon at the Mercantile Club. It is now hoped to raise $1,000,000 or more in large subscriptions, before going after smaller subscriptions. Up to Friday noon, no subscriptions of less than $10 a month will be solicited.

The workers, however, are not refusing smaller gifts which come to them from workmen and school children. In the course of their canvass for large amounts.

Besides the amount raised yesterday in St. Louis, $25,000 was raised in East St. Louis, and the director of Paul A. Schlafly, a banker, and an effort will be made to make the East St. Louis total $125,000.

A large white car, in front of the campaign headquarters at 191 Locust street, will be there daily with the revised figures of the receipts reported at yesterday's luncheon at the Mercantile Club. It is now hoped to raise $1,000,000 or more in large subscriptions, before going after smaller subscriptions. Up to Friday noon, no subscriptions of less than $10 a month will be solicited.

On the first day of the Red Cross campaign employees of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch contributed $200. As only about half of them have been heard from, Postmaster Selph expects the total to reach $400.

Woman Who Solved the Mystery of High School Girl's Disappearance

MRS. GRACE HUMISTON. Central Press Photograph.

MRS. GRACE HUMISTON, a New York lawyer, who solved the mystery of the disappearance of Ruth Cruger, New York high school student, by persisting in the search of the premises of Alfredo Cocchi's bicycle shop, where the girl's body was found, after the police had reported they had found no clue there. The Cruger girl disappeared after going to Cocchi's shop Feb. 12 last to have her skates sharpened.

Among the things which directed Mrs. Humiston to the Cocchi shop was the story of a boy who told of seeing a light in Cocchi's shop the night of the girl's disappearance. Of Cocchi's queer actions when shown a newspaper story of the girl's disappearance and of other strange sights around the shop.

RED CROSS SPEECHES AT MOVIES TONIGHT
Appeal to General Public Begins Friday; $426,484 Contributed Here in Twenty-Four Hours.

Four-minute speakers in moving picture theaters, tonight and tomorrow night, will help to prepare for the appeal to the general public which will be made beginning Friday afternoon, for gifts toward St. Louis share of the $100,000,000 fund being raised by the American Red Cross. The appeal being made today and tomorrow is to men of large means.

Special dividends by large corporations, sent out to stockholders in the form of checks which the recipient is requested to sign over to the order of the Red Cross, are a part of the campaign plan. The Commonwealth Steel Co. was the first St. Louis corporation to adopt this plan, which was first worked out by Eastern concerns, some of whose stockholders here have received the dividends, and made them over to the Red Cross. The United States Steel Corporation and the Atlas Powder Co. are two of these concerns.

The canvass among men of means, which was renewed by 24 teams of business and professional men this morning, yielded $425,484.55 in the first 24 hours. These being the revised figures of the receipts reported at yesterday's luncheon at the Mercantile Club. JEFFERSON CITY, June 20.—The Post-Dispatch correspondent learned today that Gov. Gardner and Attorney-General McAllister will call for the Cole County grand jury to be convened immediately after the adjournment of the St. Louis grand jury, to sift charges of legislative bribery which are growing out of the St. Louis inquiry.

Nearly all of the trails picked up by Assistant Attorney-General Edward P. Howell, who is conducting the St. Louis grand jury inquiry, lead, more or less directly, to the State capital.

With the possible exception of the police salary increase bill, on which the investigation was based, it appears that nearly all of the large funds raised by various interests to support or oppose bills were spent in Jefferson City.

Attitude of Judge State.

John G. State, Circuit Judge of Cole County, refused to call the grand jury when the St. Louis investigation first attracted public attention, but close friends of Judge State say recent developments and disclosures have convinced him that Cole County owes to the State the duty of a thorough investigation.

State also declined to call a grand jury to investigate recent charges of short deliveries of cement at the penitentiary under the management of former Warden McClung.

When the Democratic State Central Committee was investigating the collection by McClung of $2700 for the State Committee which the committee was said not to have received, McClung explained that he spent $300 in the county campaign and the remainder to help elect State to the Circuit bench.

Mitchell's Interview.

The interview with Dr. Guy B. Mitchell, representative from Taney County, published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, strengthened the determination of State authorities to have the Cole County grand jury called.

Dr. Mitchell said a Jefferson City lawyer, who is known to have been very active in hush work here, had indirectly offered him $1000 to withdraw opposition to the bill licensing chiropractors. The lawyer referred to by Dr. Mitchell has admitted that the chiropractors' bill was discussed in his office with Dr. Mitchell.

It is also known here that this lawyer was active in his opposition to the new penitentiary law, abolishing contract labor at the penitentiary, and supporting other bills involving large interests.

It is understood that no investigation will be asked here until the St. Louis grand jury has adjourned and has finally disposed of the legislative inquiry, so that Assistant Attorney-General Howell may devote his undivided attention to the inquiry here. If the St. Louis investigation should continue indefinitely, however, the grand jury will be called here and another assistant from the Attorney-General's office will be assigned to the case.

REALTY MAN GETS TWO YEARS

William H. Schewe, 1063 Hornsby avenue, a real estate dealer at 3212 North Broadway, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Kimmel's court yesterday afternoon of embezzling $100 from Henry Boeckstegel of 523 Plover avenue, on July 24, 1916. He was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The testimony was that Schewe received $100 to apply on a note which had been given by Boeckstegel and his wife on Walnut Park property. Later the owner of the deed placed it in the hands of another agent and it was discovered that Boeckstegel had not been credited with the $100 payment.

After an information was issued, Schewe paid $100 to Boeckstegel, which he claimed to have borrowed from him. Another case is pending against Schewe.

Kipling Finds Trentino Front
Ruggedest and Steepest of All

Austrian Trenches at Points Are Directly Over Italians on Mountain Sides and Occupants
Sometimes Slip and Roll Down Into Those of the Enemy Below—Noted Author Finds Thousands of Soldiers Comfortably Housed in Towns Concealed in Forests.

This is the fifth of a series of articles by Mr. Kipling on conditions on the various Italian fronts to be printed in the Post-Dispatch.

By Rudyard Kipling.

(Copyright, 1917, by Rudyard Kipling.)

It does not need an expert to distinguish the notes of the several Italian fronts. One picks them up a long way behind the lines, from the troops in rest or the traffic on the road. Even behind Browning's lovely Asolo, where, you will remember, Pipa passed 26 years since, announcing that "All right with the world," one felt the tightening in the air.

"See where our frontier west of the Dolomites dips south in this V-like shape. That's the Trentino. Garibaldi's volunteers were in full possession of it in our War of Independence. Prussia was our ally then against Austria, but Prussia made peace when it suited her—I'm talking of 1866—and we had to accept the frontier that she and Austria laid down. The Italian frontier is a bad one everywhere—Prussia and Austria took care of that—but the Trentino section is specially bad."

Mist wrapped the plateau we were climbing. The mountains had changed into rounded, almost barrel-shaped, hills and dropped behind us. The roads were many and narrow but the horses held their pace; the usual old men and boys were there to see to that.

Sometimes Austrians Roll Out of Their Trenches Upon Italians

Scotch moors, red uplands, scarred with trenches and punched with shell holes; a confusion of hills without color and, in the mist, almost without shape, rose and dropped behind us. They hid troops in their folds—always waiting troops—and the trenches multiplied themselves high and low on their sides.

We descended a mountain smashed into rubble from head to heel, but still preserving outline, like wrinkles on a forehead, of trenches that had followed its contours. A narrow, shallow ditch (it might have been a water main) ran vertically up the mountain, the faded trenches at right angles.

"That was where our men stood before the Austrians were driven back in their last push—the Asolo push, don't you call it? It took the Austrians 10 days to work half way down from the top of the mountain. Our men drove that trench straight up the hill, as you see. Then they climbed, and the Austrians broke. It's not as bad as it looks. Because in this sort of work, if the enemy uphill misses his footing, he rolls down among your men, but if you stumble you only slip back among your friends."

"What did it cost you?" I whispered.

"A good deal. And on that mountain across the gorge—but the mist won't let you see it—our men fought for a week, without water. The Austrians were the first people to lay out a line of 12-inch shell holes on a mountain's side to serve as trenches. It's almost a regulation trick on all the fronts now, but it's annoying."

He told tales of the long, bitter fight when the Austrians thought, till Gen. Cadorna showed them otherwise, they had the plains to the south at their mercy. I should not care to be an Austrian with the Boche behind me, exercising Romanus in front.

Quietest Front Where Armies
Live in Forest Trenches

It was the quietest of fronts and the least ostentatious of armies. It lived in great towns among forests, where we found snow again in dirty, hollow-flanked drifts, that were giving up all the rubbish and refuse winter had piled. Laid out, up to the hill, was maybe. The natural temperateness and open air existence of the people, their readiness to stake life lightly on personal issues, have evolved this system, or, maybe, their secular instinct for administration has been reborn under the sword. When one considers the whole scheme of their work one leans to the first opinion; when one looks at the faces of their Generals, chiseled out by war to the very camoes of their ancestors under the Roman eagles, one inclines to the second.

Italy, too, has a larger number than most countries of men returned from money-getting in the Western republics who have settled down at home again. (They are called Americanos. They have used the New World, but love the Old.) There is a curious widespread influence which, working upon the national quickness of mind and art, makes, I should imagine, for invention and faculty. Add to this the consciousness of the new Italy, created by its own immense efforts and necessities—a thing as impossible as dawn to express in words or to miss in the air—and one begins to understand what sort of future is opening for this oldest and youngest among the nations. With thrift, valor, temperance and an idea one goes far.

They are fighting now, as all civilizations, against the essential devil of the Boche, which they know better than we do in England, because they were once his ally. To that end they give, not wasting or sparing, the whole of their endeavor. But they are under no illusions as to guarantees of safety necessary after the war, without which their own existence cannot be secured. They fight for these also, because, like the French, they are logical and face facts to the end.

Their difficulties, general and particular, are many. But Italy accepts these burdens and others in just the same spirit as she accepts the cave-riddled plateau, the mountains, the unstable snows and rocks and the inconceivable toil that they impose upon her arms. They are hard, but she is harder.

Yet, what man can set out to judge anything? In a hotel, waiting for a midnight train, an officer was speaking of some of d'Annunzio's poetry, that has literally helped to move mountains in this war. He explained an illusion in it by a quotation from Dante. An old porter, waiting for our luggage, dozed crumpled up in a chair by the veranda. As he caught the long swing of the verse his eyes opened, his chin came out of his shirt front, till he sat like a little hawk on a perch, attentive to each line, his foot softly following its cadence.

Grocery Delivery Wagon Stolen.

A delivery wagon containing about $30 worth of groceries, belonging to the Cohen Grocery Co., 1013 North Seventh street, was stolen yesterday afternoon in front of 1311 Blair avenue. J. L. Cohen, a member of the firm, drove his automobile over North Seventh street searching for it. At 1225 North Eleventh street he saw the wagon with a man on the seat. The man jumped and fled. The wagon was empty.

Ex-German Ships Take Supplies to Russia.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Two vessels of the Shipping Board's fleet have been chartered to Russia for transporting to Archangel part of the 200,000 tons of Russian supplies awaiting shipment at New York. The vessels chartered are from the enemy fleet interned in American ports at the outbreak of the war. They are of about 7000 tons each.

How the big guns Italy is using in the war against Austria are carried to the mountain peak positions. Every gun must be moved in this way.

MAYOR ADVOCATES
QUICK ACTION ON GARBAGE PLANT

Declares Aldermen Should Pass
Pending Measure Before Summer Vacation.

Mayor Kiel announced today that he favored the enactment of the bill for a municipal garbage plant, prepared by the Board of Public Service and now pending in the Board of Aldermen. The bill will provide a substitute for the private contract system, the time for the expiration of the present contracts being in September, 1918.

"It will take every minute of the remaining six months to get ready for putting the plant in operation," the Mayor said. He added that he and Comptroller Nolte would go, within a few days, to New Bedford, Mass., to see the working of the municipal garbage plant there, which is operated on the Cobwall system, the same system which it is proposed to install here.

The use of this system has been recommended by President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, and by members of a special committee of the Board of Aldermen, headed by Luke Hart, who visited the New Bedford plant and those of other cities, run on various systems.

The Mayor said he hoped the Board of Aldermen would not adjourn for the summer vacation until it has passed the garbage plant ordinance. If the matter were to go over until fall, the delay might make it impossible to get the plant ready in time, and necessitate an expensive temporary contract.

President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen said there should be no thought of adjourning until the garbage measure is passed. If necessary, he said, daily meetings should be held for this purpose.

The Board of Public Service will probably be required to find a location for the proposed plant. A river-front location is desired, and city property along the river will probably be used for this purpose.

SAXON RADICAL CONVENTION
SPEAKER FOR ANNEXATIONS

Declaration for Indemnity Shows Accord With Pan-German Doctrine.

COPENHAGEN, June 20.—A convention of the radical party in Saxony was held in Dresden on Sunday. Here Werner Reichstag deputy, declared that, while the party was opposed to boundless annexations, extensions of frontiers on both east and west fronts were desirable for the better protection of German soil against invasion.

Wiener said the question of colonies must be taken under consideration in peace negotiations and that a war indemnity to cover part of Germany's expenditure was highly desirable. For these reasons he condemned the Socialist propaganda for peace without annexations or indemnities.

Wiener's remarks were in accord with the Pan-German doctrine. The proceedings show how false the hopes are for the attainment of even a Scheidemann peace if viewed in the light of the attitude of the most conciliatory and progressive wing of the non-socialist members of the Reichstag.

Woodmen Increase Insurance Tax.

CHICAGO, June 20.—An amended charter providing for an increased insurance tax of 70 cents per $100, was adopted here yesterday at the triennial convention of the Modern Woodmen of America. The war risk was given as the reason for the increased rate. There is also a movement on foot to raise a $2,000,000 fund to care for the families of members who expect to go to the front.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 20.—The Post-Dispatch correspondent learned today that Gov. Gardner and Attorney-General McAllister will call for the Cole County grand jury to be convened immediately after the adjournment of the St. Louis grand jury, to sift charges of legislative bribery which are growing out of the St. Louis inquiry.

Nearly all of the trails picked up by Assistant Attorney-General Edward P. Howell, who is conducting the St. Louis grand jury inquiry, lead, more or less directly, to the State capital.

With the possible exception of the police salary increase bill, on which the investigation was based, it appears that nearly all of the large funds raised by various interests to support or oppose bills were spent in Jefferson City.

Attitude of Judge State.

John G. State, Circuit Judge of Cole County, refused to call the grand jury when the St. Louis investigation first attracted public attention, but close friends of Judge State say recent developments and disclosures have convinced him that Cole County owes to the State the duty of a thorough investigation.

State also declined to call a grand jury to investigate recent charges of short deliveries of cement at the penitentiary under the management of former Warden McClung.

When the Democratic State Central Committee was investigating the collection by McClung of $2700 for the State Committee which the committee was said not to have received, McClung explained that he spent $300 in the county campaign and the remainder to help elect State to the Circuit bench.

Mitchell's Interview.

The interview with Dr. Guy B. Mitchell, representative from Taney County, published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, strengthened the determination of State authorities to have the Cole County grand jury called.

Dr. Mitchell said a Jefferson City lawyer, who is known to have been very active in hush work here, had indirectly offered him $1000 to withdraw opposition to the bill licensing chiropractors. The lawyer referred to by Dr. Mitchell has admitted that the chiropractors' bill was discussed in his office with Dr. Mitchell.

It is also known here that this lawyer was active in his opposition to the new penitentiary law, abolishing contract labor at the penitentiary, and supporting other bills involving large interests.

It is understood that no investigation will be asked here until the St. Louis grand jury has adjourned and has finally disposed of the legislative inquiry, so that Assistant Attorney-General Howell may devote his undivided attention to the inquiry here. If the St. Louis investigation should continue indefinitely, however, the grand jury will be called here and another assistant from the Attorney-General's office will be assigned to the case.

REALTY MAN GETS TWO YEARS
IN PRISON FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

William H. Schewe, 1063 Hornsby avenue, a real estate dealer at 3212 North Broadway, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Kimmel's court yesterday afternoon of embezzling $100 from Henry Boeckstegel of 523 Plover avenue, on July 24, 1916. He was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The testimony was that Schewe received $100 to apply on a note which had been given by Boeckstegel and his wife on Walnut Park property. Later the owner of the deed placed it in the hands of another agent and it was discovered that Boeckstegel had not been credited with the $100 payment.

After an information was issued, Schewe paid $100 to Boeckstegel, which he claimed to have borrowed from him. Another case is pending against Schewe.

St. Louisans Tell of Experiences in England

Members of Hospital Unit on Way to France
Visited Blackpool, British "Coney Island"— Evidences of War Everywhere.

Interesting letters from members of St. Louis Base Hospital No. 21, now "somewhere in France," are pouring in on relatives here. Some of them were posted in mid-ocean and placed on a returning ship, and others were mailed upon the unit's arrival in England, May 23.

They reveal that the St. Louisans were nine days in crossing the Atlantic, and that they encountered an exceptionally rough sea, which made nearly all of them seasick.

The voyage was without unusual incident, except that Serg. Fremont Luckeling of 362 Natural Bridge avenue, a Washington University medical student, spoke of an American destroyer, while escorting the liner, firing at what he thought appeared to be the periscope of a submarine. All St. Louisans on board ship were gratified to see that the American naval gunners aboard, at target practice with six-inch guns, were able to demolish barrels in a tossing sea at distances ranging from 500 to 1000 yards.

Visit England's "Coney Island." Upon landing at Liverpool, the hospital unit went by train to Blackpool, described by the St. Louisans as "the Coney Island of England." Here they were met by the Royal Medical Corps Band, which welcomed them with "The Star-Spangled Banner," "Dixie," "Su-wance River," "My Home in Tennessee" and other American popular airs.

The St. Louisans were billeted—which means that groups of men were assigned to various private residences, where they were lodged and lodged. They found that they were limited to 21 cents a meal, and there apparently was no serious food shortage. As they were not permitted to write postcards, all had to seal their messages in envelopes.

After a few days at the seashore, the unit was entertained for several days in London, and then departed for France. One St. Louisan wrote that he understood that the 50-bed hospital to which the St. Louis unit would be assigned was about seventy miles from Paris.

Leland Mitchell of 454 A Papin street, a Washington University medical senior, who was promoted to Sergeant when crossing the ocean, wrote every day to his widowed mother. He is an only son, 22 years old. Some of the interesting excerpts from his lengthy letters follow:

"Monday night. Today we headed—after traveling—since Saturday evening, and say, it is cold. We are now about 400 miles from port, going at the rate of 400-500 miles a day. We are now due east of the Newfoundland banks and we change our course tomorrow and strike east again.

"This morning we were hauled out at 8 and went on deck for setting up exercises. There we had breakfast, and at 9 we had military drill, which consisted of the 'school of the soldier,' such as 'right face,' 'salute,' 'about face,' etc.

"The gunners were practicing with our big 6-inch guns this morning. They would throw barrels overboard and then take a pop at them at about 500 yards. They shot pretty straight considering the roll of the vessel and the tossing of the targets."

"This morning we had lifeboat drill in which everybody, including the nurses, had to participate. In case of emergency each man knows exactly what to do and where to go."

"Tuesday Night—Now we know what life on the bounding waves means. About two-thirds of the passengers are in their beds seasick and the rest are just able to creep about. The sea is as heavy as I ever hope to see it—waves rush against the sides of the vessel and the decker are aware of all of the time. The food we get in the mess is unpalatable, so three of us are bribing a first-class waiter to get food and especially fruit for us and we have been getting along fine.

"I was talking to a steward today, and I happened to comment on the weather, and he said, 'We are having, and he just said that this was a nice calm voyage. They promise us rough weather tonight. Heaven forbid. Today our detachment had the 'articles of war' read to it. Only one-third of the gang showed up. While the captain was reading the 'articles,' two privates and our sergeant had to leave the cabin for the rail."

"Wednesday night—About 90 per cent of the passengers and one-half of the crew are deathly sick. Why, you never saw such waves. They are as high as the ship and the wind catches the waves and breaks them and the spray feels like a snow blizzard. The wind is blowing a gale from the west, and we are headed straight into it. One minute the bow is high in the air, and the next minute it is buried in the waves and the propellers whirl out in midair. When the propellers get out of the water the vessel shivers from stem to stern."

"One meets up with lots of different people. I was talking to a young English lad last night and he told me that he had been wounded 19 times at Yser and Mons—and he sure had the scars to show, too. People in America can never dream what this war means. A number of the passengers on the boat have been in the war and they can tell tales that make the kind you read about look like Sunday school lessons."

"Friday—We have to hand our mail in by 2:30 this p. m. I scratched out a few things so there would be no question about this letter passing 'censorship.'"

From Blackpool Serg. Mitchell mailed another interesting letter, describing the reception there to the St. Louisans. The letter, in part, follows:

"Saturday night we sighted Fastnet light; it was a welcome sight; and Sunday evening we steamed up the Mersey River and lay in the harbor until this morning, when we landed at Liverpool. We almost immediately boarded a train and were whisked through Preston to the seashore resort of Blackpool. It is a beautiful place—after eight days aboard ship. We came up in the cars with compartments, drawn by a little donkey engine, and passed through beautiful typical English country. Everything here is as green as it is in America after an April shower, and they say it's that way all during the year except winter. There is no dust—the roads are all paved. Every inch of available ground is used to plant something."

"Now to tell about Blackpool. It is a summer resort and Newport couldn't look better than this place did to us. It has quaint, narrow, streets, each street about two blocks long, and trees and green grass and shrubs and gardens every place. This evening Fremont and I walked about five miles on the promenade (board walk) and up and down one of the piers. There are soldiers everywhere. There is a hospital here, and the lame and convalescing in their blue hospital suits are seen always. And women—you never saw so many. I guess we think there are lots because all the men are gone. Only old men and boys are left to do the work."

"When we arrived at the station this morning we were marched to the tune of 'Dixie,' 'Swanee River,' 'My Home in Tennessee' and various tunes, down a section of the town where summer visitors are kept."

"We were given a jovial reception which certainly struck home. We came down here—nearly the last—and were billeted—which means groups of men are assigned to various houses and the people who live there room and board us—and they all welcomed us joyfully. The British Government pays for our lodging. I have a nice, clean room. We found a nice little restaurant and ate a delicious meal and when we went to pay for it one of the fellows took the check and gave it to the cashier, along with a $5 bill. Well, the cashier about dropped dead. 'What's that?' he said. 'Money,' says we. 'Whoops,' he said. 'How much is it?' 'Five dollars.' 'I don't know what it is,' he said. So we had to stop and get a piece of paper and pencil and count up in shillings and pence what the bill was. But we have English money now. It is cumbersome stuff, and I always have to stop and think it out in cents before I pay."

"We had no duties today, so we just wandered about town. Today is 'Whit-sunday,' or something like that, and the town is crowded with people. We are to get up to drill at 8:30 tomorrow. Oh, yes—we had TEA at 4:30 this afternoon—bless my wrist watch if we didn't. No bad, either. But the devil of it is we didn't get any supper. These English are queer folks, but their hearts are right and they treat us like princes."

"There is no serious shortage of food here. We get all we want of good, clean, tasty food—wholesome as can be. There is a limit on what one can buy at a cafe, and we are a little saving with sugar, but so far as Germany ever starving England, she'll have to go some."

"The beach is grand, and thousands of

July Records

HERE is a record of "Old Black Joe," by Louis Graveure, the world-famed baritone, that is a perfect gem of inspired song-interpretation. The very soul of the old dying darkey speaks in moving tenderness in each phrase.

"Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" voices the longing expressed in the words with rare, touching and true expressiveness.

Of the same class is Lucy Gates' rendering of "Aloha Oe," the Hawaiian farewell song, with the sweet sound of guitars and a male quartette bringing out the tender beauty of her voice; Francis Macmillen's first recording of two of his own violin compositions; and the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra's recording of the "Barcarole" from "The Tales of Hoffman." These are indeed unusual

	JUANITA. Lucy Gates, soprano, and Columbia Stellar Quartette.		BARCAROLE. Francis Macmillen, violinist.

Then there are eighteen such song-hits as "I Wonder Why," from "Love o' Mike," sung by Anna Wheaton; "Huckleberry Finn," sung by Sam Ash, and "Hong-Kong," rendered by Brice & King; while the twelve dances listed include such hits as "Hawaiian Butterfly," "I Wonder Why," "It's a Long, Long Time" and "Naughty, Naughty, Naughty."

Added to these are patriotic selections, bugle calls, band music; songs by Vernon Stiles from Victor Herbert's "Eileen"; two beautiful ballads sung by Charles Harrison; trios, quartettes, humorous dialogues; drum-and-piano and bell novelties; saxophone selections and story-telling records, making a list that's a notable addition to the fine list of records with the "music-note" trade-mark.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA

The one symptom of neuralgia is pain and it is unmistakable.

In a large proportion of cases anemia and debility are responsible for neuralgia, particularly in women. To remedy the neuritic condition it is necessary to build up the blood and improve the general health and for this purpose there is nothing better nor more convenient than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Sciatica is nothing more than neuritis of the sciatic nerve.

If you have neuralgia or sciatica pains do not go to great expense for treatment until you have tried building up the blood. If you are pale the chances are very strong that the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that you will require. Hot applications and liniments may be used at the same time if you desire. They may relieve the pain and temporary relief is the best you can expect from them anyway. The pain in the nerve is caused by nerve starvation. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give to the blood the elements that the nerves need. They contain no narcotics and are not pain-killers. They remove the cause of the pain. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by your own druggist, or will be sent by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Price 50 cents—ADV.

Don't wait for time to heal your skin—

"Oh it will get well anyhow!" you say? Perhaps it will, and perhaps it won't. Maybe it will get worse instead. And think of the discomfort and embarrassment it causes you even now.

Isn't it better to get rid of the trouble by using Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap? Doctors have prescribed the Resinol treatment for over 20 years, so you need not hesitate to use it. Resinol usually stops itching instantly.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For a free sample of each, write to Dept. 433, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. You'd better try—

DEATH BY CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS OF BOY

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in Case of A. Travis Whitaker, Killed by Automobile.

The killing of A. Travis Whitaker, 602 Waterman avenue, by the automobile driven by Joseph Campbell, 17 years old, 5114 North Vandeventer avenue, in front of the Jefferson Memorial, Sunday, was due to criminal carelessness on the part of the boy, according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury today.

David C. Brown, 280 Wells avenue, and M. R. Edmond, 500 Waterman avenue, who were with Whitaker when he was struck, testified that they saw the car coming and jumped forward, while Whitaker stepped backward. They said that Whitaker's body was thrown 40 or 50 feet and they estimated that the car was going about 35 miles an hour.

Young Campbell was in court, wearing knee trousers. He was willing to make a statement, but as he was not represented by an attorney, the Coroner, at the suggestion of Assistant Circuit Attorney Dickman, excused him.

ST. LOUISANS TELL OF EXPERIENCES WHILE IN ENGLAND

women and soldiers promenade up and down all the time. There is music and entertainment going on all the time. Things are cheap, too. Food is cheaper than in America, and one of the fellows today got a shave, a haircut and a shampoo all for a shilling (24 cents)—we would have to pay at least 50 cents at home. And we Americans are treated with the greatest of respect and consideration.

Misrales as to Periscope.

Excerpts from Sgt. Luecking's second letter to his mother, Mrs. A. G. Luecking, which was posted in England, follow:

"I had to mail my last letter on board the ship, two days out of England. Nothing very exciting had occurred up to that time (Saturday morning)—we didn't enter the danger zone until the next morning, really.

"Well, late Saturday night we thought we saw a periscope, but it was a false alarm. It stirred everyone up, though, and most of them slept on deck. On Sunday morning we were all on deck when one of the most welcome visitors you ever saw hove into view—an American destroyer with the good old stars and stripes floating at her stern.

"Well, she zig-zagged along in front of us, looking for submarines, about 11 o'clock a sea-ventured periscope popped up about 200 yards off the port bow. The destroyer fired three shots at it, and the aerospace periscope disappeared with speed and dispatch.

"Later in the afternoon our convoy left us, but in a few minutes we were met by an English destroyer, which took us through the rest of the danger zone. We arrived in Liverpool about 7:30 Sunday evening, but anchored in the harbor until 11 this morning.

"We arrived in Blackpool at noon. It sure does make one realize that a war is going on when it comes to naming soldiers to one's house and making one drive them room and board.

"But I must tell you about Blackpool. It is quite a wonderful place—a watering place—similar to Atlantic City, but much larger. I imagine. It is one of the large gathering places for wounded soldiers—there are numerous enormous base hospitals, and you can see great numbers of convalescents walking about the streets and also British army surgeons and enlisted men of the hospital corps.

"The people here are excessively kind to the American soldiers and do everything they can for us. There are two other units here—Pennsylvania Hospital No. 10 and Harvard No. 5. Cleveland left this morning for France.

"England certainly seems to be a funny place. The people all have some strange sort of accent; their street cars are very short and narrow gaged, but two stories high, and run on the left side of the street. The sun sets habitually at 9:30 p. m.—you may find that very hard to believe, but it is an absolute fact, and even now, at 9 o'clock, it is still quite light.

"But the crowning thing of all is that there are two Fords to one of every other make of car, but they have the right-hand drive. I have about come to the conclusion that Merrie England is about as topsy-turvy as Alice in Wonderland."

Other letters, giving similar descriptions of the unit's voyage and experiences in Blackpool, have been received by relatives and friends from Richard K. Knox of 323 North Whittier street; William Stack, formerly an artist on the Post-Dispatch; Holland F. Chalfant, son of W. F. Chalfant of 312 Shenandoah avenue, and William H. Rogers, son of J. W. Rogers of 618 Westminster place.

FIREMAN GETS TEN YEARS IN PRISON FOR KILLING WIFE

Carl Riebe Made Defense That Shooting Was Accidental—Boy Was Principal Witness.

The jury in Judge Shield's court today returned a verdict of guilty and imposed a penalty of 10 years in prison on Carl Riebe, 38 years old, a fireman, of 208 Texas avenue, on a charge of second degree murder for the killing of his wife, Anna, 29, at their home on April 11.

Elmer Petner, 11, son of Mrs. Riebe by a former marriage, was the principal witness. He did not see the shooting but testified that his stepfather had mistreated his wife and drank frequently. Neighbors testified they heard the shots. Riebe's defense was that the shooting was accidental. He admitted that he had been drinking.

FOOD PREPARED BY PRESCRIPTION IN METABOLISM WARD

Barnes Hospital Department,
Beneficiary of $1,500,000
Fund Has Chemical Kitchen.

To provide approved scientific treatment of diseases resulting from deficiency of chemical action in the body and to conduct continuous research work in an effort to determine the cause and cure of such diseases, a perfectly equipped metabolism department has been established in Barnes Hospital, operated in connection with the Medical Department of Washington University.

This research department, as well as other departments for the study and treatment of other diseases, has been made possible by the liberal endowment of the medical school, which has just received for that purpose a gift of $1,500,000, of which $1,000,000 was given by the General Education Board founded by John D. Rockefeller, and the other $500,000 in equal parts by three St. Louisans, Edward Mallinckrodt, 28 Westmoreland place; John T. Milliken, 26 Portland place, and Mrs. Mary Oliver, 6887 Cabanne avenue.

Food Prepared by Prescription.
The metabolism department consists of a chemical kitchen, where the physician's prescriptions for food for the patients are as carefully and accurately filled as prescriptions in a drug store; two comfortable wards containing six beds for patients, and a laboratory. The diseases treated and studied in this department are principally diabetes, nephritis and exophthalmic goitre. In the treatment of these diseases it is necessary for the physician to know exactly what the patient eats and drinks and what part of the food is assimilated.

Metabolism is defined by scientists as meaning all the changes through which food passes from the time it enters the body until it is changed into energy and tissue. Both digestion and assimilation are parts of the process of metabolism. Technically, metabolism is defined as meaning the sum total of the anabolic or constructive process, and the sum total of the catabolic or destructive process. The building up of tissue by the assimilation of food, and the tearing down of tissue by work of activity. For instance, the formation of muscular tissue from the proteins would be a process of construction, while the conversion of carbohydrates into carbon dioxide would be a destructive process.

Example of Diabetes.
In the treatment of diabetes, for example, the scientists have learned that in the body there is lacking some chemical action necessary to convert the carbohydrates (starch and sugar) into carbon dioxide, and that these highly nutritious food values are eliminated through the kidneys. The scientists have never been able to learn the nature of the chemical deficiency, and therefore cannot supply it artificially.

The work that is being done under the corps of highly trained experts in this department has two objects in view: To give the patients the treatment that science has proven to be the most suitable, and to discover, if possible, what it is that is lacking in the body and to supply it.

There is such a great amount of laboratory work in the treatment of patients in this department that one chemist is required for each two patients.

The preparation of food for patients of the department is in charge of a graduate dietitian. A physician will prescribe 70 grams of proteins, 70 grams of fat and 20 grams of carbohydrates for a patient's breakfast. This prescription is handed to the dietitian, who, by consulting her table of food values prepared by the United States Government, and by carefully weighing the food, is able to cook a meal containing exactly that quantity of food values. A record of all that a patient eats is kept.

Grouping of the Sections.
The department is arranged so that the kitchen, the laboratory and the wards for the patients all open into a common corridor. By this grouping of the several sections of the metabolism department the work can be performed in the most highly scientific and satisfactory manner, and the patients are segregated, not on account of the nature of their disease, but for convenience of treatment.

There is no guess work or chance work in this department. It has been found that patients with the same disease require vastly different treatment, and the treatment required can be determined only by painstaking records of foods consumed and skilled analyses.

Numerous other research departments have been or will be established in charge of the most competent experts to be obtained. It is the hope of the physicians in charge of the medical school of the university, as well as of the trustees, to make the school one of the greatest—not the greatest—in the United States.

Announcement to Wearers of Nemo Corsets

Why Several $3.50 Nemo Corsets
Must Be Advanced to $4.00

Wholesale costs of nearly all materials of which corsets are made are high and still soaring. On some costs have more than doubled, and some are hard to get at any price.

The Nemo people were forced to choose between cutting down their quality or increasing their price. To reduce the high Nemo Standard, famous the world over, would not be fair to the millions of Nemo wearers. The makers, therefore, announce a raise of 50c on several of their popular $3.50 models, which will be sold—

On and After July 2 at $4.00

This advance represents only a small part of the actual increase in cost of production. We believe that most women will cheerfully pay the extra 50c, being assured that NEMO QUALITY WILL NEVER BE LOWERED.

Meantime, up to and including SATURDAY, June 30, we can sell you these corsets AT THE OLD PRICE—$3.50

Kennerly Avenue Sunny Club
Holds Successful Affair at Home of a Member.

CONTRIBUTIONS.
Previously acknowledged $332.00
Kennerly Avenue Sunny Club 14.00
A Lover of the Poor 10.00
Total $356.00

"Hope this will help some baby this summer," was the appropriate sentiment of L. P. K. using the signature
"A Lover of the Poor," that accompanied a contribution of $10 to the Post-Dispatch Milk and Ice Fund. That sentiment is the moving impulse with all the hundreds of children and adults who year after year give freely of their time, mental and physical energy and money to the task of conserving the infant life of St. Louis, and with a success that has placed the city in the forefront of the larger communities of the country for low infant mortality.

There was happy coincidence mingled with splendid triumph in the entertainment given Monday evening for the Milk and Ice Fund, on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Jeannette Earl, 324 Kennerly avenue, and the group of little stars who made the occasion one that will long be remembered by young and old of the vicinity are happily styled "Kennerly Avenue Sunny Club." There were 14 of the young people, one of them, Frankie Earl, was 14 years old on that date, and the net result of the affair financially was $14.

It was not until the previous Saturday that the children hit upon the purpose of giving the benefit for the poor babies, and the decision was followed at once by united and energetic work to make it something worth while from every viewpoint. Tickets of admission were priced at a penny each, and the district for blocks in each direction was speedily canvassed for selling purposes with record effect, as the size of the audience and the aggregate sum raised attest.

To the sum raised by admission was added returns from the sale of refreshments, to which the girls and boys applied themselves with the same type of enthusiasm that had marked their endeavor in other directions from the first.

The lawn was handsomely decorated with patriotic design and illuminated by Japanese lanterns, creating an inspiring scene, and the appropriate coming of the children for their entertainment added to the charm of the spectacle. For the refreshments several booths had been arranged. That for the sale of ice cream was conducted by Nellie Cole and Aline Gregory; that for lemonade was presided over by Ruth Hildebrand and Tom Dolan; that for novelties was in charge of Ruth Strauss and Fern Crockett; a fish pond was directed by Stella Grennon and Katherine Nicholas, and a fortune-telling booth was in charge of Frankie Earl.

The entertainment program was notably interesting, the dancing of the minuet by Katherine Nicholas and Stella Grennon being conspicuous in this respect. Music for the occasion was obtained from a talking machine.

The children who shared in the triumph of the carnival were: Edward and Stella Grennon, 3363 Kennerly avenue; Thomas Dolan, 3343 Kennerly; Aline Gregory, 3346 Kennerly; Ruth
Strauss, 3319 Kennerly; Nellie Cole, 3363
Kennerly; Frankie Earl, 324 Kennerly;
Katherine Nicholas, 3303 Kennerly; Fred
Mallett, 3320 Kennerly; Tom Hanton,
3332 Kennerly; Ruth Hildebrand, 3343A
Vandeventer avenue, and Fern Crockett, 4044 Lexington avenue.

Evidences of increasing activity on the part of the children are cumulative.
In many instances assurances came from those who have not hitherto actively aided the cause, but many of the "veterans" are busy arranging novel entertainments.

Julia Beaver of 5219 Famous avenue,
who began her activities for the fund
last year, earning, with the assistance of several neighbor children, $12.50, is arranging a novel entertainment that will be presented on the evenings of July 2 and 3.

The affair will be of the vaudeville order, in which patriotic songs and tableaux will be the features. There will also be recitations, dances, songs and instrumental music. Each of the 20 children who have enlisted is busy in the preparation of a special part in the program.

Tickets for the benefit will be sold at 5 cents, and since last Thursday, when the tickets went on sale, the girls and boys have sold $18.50 worth. Refreshments also will be sold, and from the combination the children confidently anticipate a substantial addition to the fund.

GERMANS URGED TO USE
BENZOATE OF SODA IN FRUIT

Recommended in Place of Sugar in Preserving Because of Small Sugar Allotment.
COPENHAGEN, June 23.—The American controversy over use of benzoate of soda is recalled by the recommendation of the German Food Department that this preservative be used instead of sugar in putting up fruit, fruit juices and marmalade. The amount of sugar allotted for preserving purposes is so small per person the department advises its use only with the most ripe and the naturally sweetest fruits.

Fruits largely disappeared from the open market as soon as authorities attempted to regulate prices and are almost unobtainable in Berlin. The potato situation, bad in Berlin, Hamburg and other cities, is far worse in localities with a more tractable population. Leipzig, for example, issues this week one pound of potatoes and one pound of bread instead of five pounds of potatoes.

In the last three weeks no extra potatoes have been available for workmen engaged in heavy labor. The women in a Berlin suburb rioted at the announcement there were no potatoes.
Several hundred broke into the offices of the village president.

NEWSPAPER OFFICE RECAPTURED

Anarchists Surrender After Seizing Petrograd Plant of the Volta.

PETROGRAD, June 20.—The building of the Russia Volta, Petrograd's richest and most largely circulated newspaper, was seized Monday afternoon by armed anarchists, who expelled the staff, destroyed all the copies of the paper and the books and declared they would stand siege. The Volta is particularly hated by the anarchists because it strongly supported the provisional Government and attacked the extremists.

Gen. Polovtsov, commander of the Petrograd troops, sent a large force of Cossacks, infantry and machine guns and surrounded the building. The anarchists, realizing their position was hopeless, surrendered. Seventy of them were marched to jail.

COMMUNITY GARDEN PROVES A SUCCESS

University City Now Planning to Conduct a Canning Center.

Residents of University City have had such remarkable success with their "community garden" that they now have under consideration a plan to form a community canning center.

The progress made with the garden was outlined to a Post-Dispatch reporter today by Joseph Bardenheier of 2303 Washington. Six acres have been planted in potatoes, and the community expects to get at least 600 bushels of potatoes, making a profit of about 240 per cent. Within two weeks four more acres will be planted with turnips and other non-perishable produce.

The community garden is on a 10-acre tract, between the Hanley road and the North and South road, about one-fourth mile south of the Olive Street road, in St. Louis County. It is an outgrowth of the Department of Agriculture's plan to increase production. Last April a loyalty meeting was held in the University City High School and talks were made on increasing the production and conserving of foodstuffs.

Obtained Ground Free. Mayor August Heman appointed Bardenheier to investigate the proposition of a community garden. Coincident with this, Russell Richardson, president of the Russell A. Richardson Real Estate Co., 706 Chestnut street, had an advertisement in the Post-Dispatch saying that he would furnish ground free for a large garden. A committee of University City property owners called on Richardson and selected the ground on the Hanley road.

It was decided that by planting potatoes the community could serve the country best in food production. Forty men subscribed $25 each to meet expenses. As yet not half of this amount has been spent.

A plow company plowed, disced and harrowed the ground free in demonstration of their tractor. An experienced farmer was hired to superintend the planting.

Seed potatoes were bought for $3.50 and $4 a bushel. All who had subscribed, and many who had not, volunteered their services in putting up the potatoes and planting them. Between 60 and 70 bushels were used. City officials and others helped, working early in the morning and late at night. Several men stayed away from their business for several days to aid in the work. This same method will be used when the potatoes are dug in late July or early August.

Crop Not Yet Divided. The disposition of the crop has not been determined, although it likely will be distributed among those who contributed to the expenses.

Bardenheier said the big thing is not so much how the crop is distributed as that the community had helped the Government in raising a war crop.

The existence of many private gardens in University City led to the plans for a community canning center late in the summer. Bardenheier got from the Department of Agriculture literature on how such a center should be conducted.

BRITISH TITLES, 'HIGHNESS' AND 'SERENE HIGHNESS,' DISAPPEAR

Many Royal Descendants, in Time, to Become "Mistery" German Names and Titles Changed.

LONDON, June 20.—The following official announcement is made: "The King has deemed it desirable in the conditions brought about by the war that those Princes of his family who are his subjects and bear German names and titles, should relinquish these titles and henceforth adopt British surnames. At the same time and consequently upon this decision the King has been pleased to confer peerages of the United Kingdom on the following: The Duke of Teck, marquis; Prince Alexander of Teck, earl; Prince Louis of Battenberg, marquis; Prince Alexander of Battenberg, marquis."

A further abolition of German titles held by members of the English royal family residing in England is indicated in the court circular, which announces: "Their highnesses Princess Victoria and Princess Marie Louise of Schleswig-Holstein will henceforth be styled their highnesses Princess Helena Victoria and Princess Marie Louise, respectively."

The circular adds that the princesses of the royal family who bear the title of Duchess of Saxony have, at the King's desire, relinquished that title and the King has directed that royal warrants be prepared stating what they will be styled in the future.

The new reform provides for the eventual complete disappearance of the titles "highness" and "serene highness" in Great Britain, while the titles of "royal highness," "princess" and "princess" will be confined to the children and grandchildren of the sovereign. There, in time, many descendants of the sovereign will become commoners and only entitled to be known as "mistery."

BULLETS DROPPED INTO TRENCHES BY MACHINE GUNS

New Use Found for Weapon Formerly Employed Only in Direct Fire.

WAR TACTICS CHANGING

Instances Cited to Show That American Force Should Train Behind Firing Line.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
BEHIND THE BRITISH LINES IN FRANCE, June 8.—Use of the machine gun as a weapon for offensive operations and for indirect fire by elevating the gun so that the bullets will fall into the trenches of the enemy is one of the recent developments of warfare which convinces the British army that the American expeditionary force should be trained within the sound of the guns at the front.
 This change in the method of using the machine gun has been brought about within a year. It shows, say the British officers, the rapidly with which methods of fighting are being altered and that if capable officers were to be sent to the front from America the systems they learned might be out of date before the troops they were to teach arrived in France.
 Less than a year ago the machine gun was regarded primarily as a weapon of direct fire, that is, for moving down an advancing enemy. It was thus chiefly a defensive method and its usefulness was limited to the rather rare periods when the enemy was attempting to attack in the open.

Machine Gun Use Broadened.
 But today the machine guns, although retaining its importance in this respect, has become still more a weapon of indirect fire, and by far the greater proportion of machine gun casualties nowadays are caused through this use of the weapon. In one highly valued type of so-called indirect fire, a machine gun is trained by day on a stretch of road or communications which the enemy is using at night for bringing up supplies and reinforcements. The machine gun tripod carefully is adjusted to command this road, and stakes are placed to limit the swing of the gun so that the bullets can be sprayed over the road. Then at night, although the road is invisible, the machine gun is operated so that at intervals of perhaps an hour, sweeping the road clear of any enemy supply columns that may be there and in effect making the use of that road impossible at night.
 As in the case of the machine gun, evolution is constantly in progress in the use of the bayonet, in trenching, in sapping, in counter attack. Nowhere, say army officers, can the latest developments of each of these specialties be taught as well as in the training camps just behind the trenches, where specialists direct from yesterday's fighting are at hand to instruct the novice.

Learn Psychology of War.
 Another valuable feature of the training camp at the front is that the soldier is there brought rapidly, almost unwittingly, into the atmosphere of modern warfare, so that when he is finally drafted into his front line unit he finds nothing particularly new or strange to him. No matter how well American troops might be trained in the United States they would find the melee of actual battle psychologically very trying. And war experts no longer laugh at psychology.
 "The training of the mind for the surprises and novelties of the battlefield is as important as the physical side of training," says the British authorities.

HERE'S HOME DEFENSE PUDDING

Portions for Eight Costs Sixteen and a Half Cents to Bake.
CHICAGO, June 20.—Mrs. W. W. Grinstead of Gaultier, Miss, has won the $5 prize offered by the woman's committee of the Illinois Council of Defense for the best recipe for "a home defense pudding." Here's the recipe:
 Half pound dried apricots at 20 cents a pound; half pound sugar at 10 cents a pound; quarter pound of fine white hominy at 5 cents a pound. Wash the apricots in cold, then in hot water; add the hominy, put in a scant quart of cold water and soak all day; next day cook two hours in a double boiler, then add sugar and cook two hours more, stirring every half hour. Turn into wet mold and serve very cold, with cream. The pudding is sufficient for eight portions and costs 16½ cents to bake.

7 OIL CARS EXPLODE IN TOWN

Indiana Village of 400 Practically Destroyed by Fire.
LINDEN, Ind., June 20.—The village of Kirkpatrick, just east of here, with a population of 400, was practically destroyed by a fire, caused when a train on the Clover Leaf Railroad containing seven cars loaded with oil was wrecked in the center of the village and the cars exploded.
 One man was burned slightly and there were a number of narrow escapes. One mother grabbed a child from its cradle as the flaming oil ran down the hill from the railroad tracks to her home.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 20.—Under a State law effective today, every able-bodied man between the ages of 16 to 60 must engage in some recognized occupation or profession and contribute to the support of himself and his dependents.
 Unless these men work 36 hours a week they are liable to a fine of $100 and hard labor on the streets for 30 days. Clipping coupons isn't listed among the legitimate occupations.

OPEN GAMBLING HOUSES NEAR NAVAL STATION, DANIELS SAYS

Appeals to Rhode Island Governor to Improve the Conditions at Newport.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Charges that naval recruits at the Newport, R. I., training station are exposed to open gambling houses, immoral resorts and illegal sales of liquor were made by Secretary Daniels today in announcing he had appealed to Gov. Beekman.
 In response to a preliminary complaint the Mayor at Newport made a general denial and declared there was no unusual degree of immorality. The Navy Department, with the assistance of agents of the Department of Justice, thereupon made a separate investigation and Secretary Daniels renewed his complaint.

Secretary Daniels said today in announcing his action:
 "I have just sent to the Governor of Rhode Island a list of some of the most notorious houses in Newport, also calling his attention to the extent and methods of illegal sale of liquor to sailors and naval reserve recruits and informing him that the department is ready to furnish him with further evidence if the State's officers do not produce it. There lies upon us morally, to a degree far out-reaching any technical responsibility, the duty of leaving nothing undone to protect these young men."

THEY'RE fighting in Europe
For your flag and mine;
They're bleeding and dying—
Brave men of the line.

HARK! ev'ry red wound
Is a mouth that is crying
For aid for the suff'ring
And ease for the dying.

IF you can't give by going
Then give of your dross
To those who are fighting
By the sign of the cross.

YOUR part is in giving
That others may live;
For God and your Country,
If you cannot go--give!!

INQUEST FAILS TO REVEAL SLAYER OF BRYAN WALSH

Verdict in Strand Hotel Bar Killing in Homicide "at Hands of Persons Unknown to Jury."

A verdict of homicide at the hands of persons unknown to the jury was returned today in the inquest into the death of Bryan Walsh, 21, 2323 Dickson street, who was killed Monday night in the Strand Hotel bar, Leffingwell avenue and Locust street.

Frank Berger, 2423 Walnut street, and John Barthman, 3424 Walnut street, who were on the street, heard shots and as the three men ran out, they asked what was the trouble. They were told that a man had been killed inside. The three men then fled.

Don't Try to Kill Black Cats. ARLINGTON, O., June 20.—Henry Beach was disturbed by the night meowing of cats. He took a shotgun to kill the cat that meowed the most. He fired at a black animal, but the contents of the gun went into Beach's hand. He went to a Findlay hospital, where three of his fingers were taken off.

AUTO PARKING RULE EVADED BY TRICKS

Men Drive Out to Track From Curb Then Back in Again; Traffic Sergeant on Violations.

Police Sgt. Joseph Gerk, in charge of the traffic squad, blames lack of convictions in the police courts, shortage of policemen to enforce existing ordinances and inadequacy of traffic regulations carrying no penalty clause, for the increasing number of traffic violations which Street and Sewer Director Talbert recently called attention to in the Post-Dispatch.

The sergeant, in an interview today, agrees with Talbert that a new code of traffic ordinances should be adopted, so as to provide fine or imprisonment for violation of the regulations made by the Street and Police Departments.

It is known to traffic policemen that hundreds of automobiles daily violate the regulations against leaving a machine more than two hours in one place on the downtown streets, but Gerk says it is impossible to stop the practice because of evasions and because the number of traffic policemen is too small.

Sometimes they drive out to the car tracks and back the machine into the same parking space.

One day last week, Gerk said, he had 12 violations cases in the police courts and all the defendants were discharged or their fines were stayed. In many cases, he said, when the police apply for summonses for traffic offenders, the city attorneys in the police courts refuse to issue the summonses.

It has been found almost impossible, he said, to obtain convictions of automobilists who drive past street cars which have stopped for passengers. The ordinance says a vehicle may pass a motionless street car if it has six feet leeway. Gerk said the distance between the car and the vehicle has always been a subject of controversy and a question of veracity between the policeman and the driver, with the result that in most cases the defendant is discharged or permitted to go free on payment of costs.

WOMAN "BANKER" CONFESSES TO $500,000 SWINDLES

Implicates Nine Others in Scheme to Appropriately Money Invested to Her for Investment.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A confession was made to United States Commissioner Olmsted yesterday by Mrs. May Hyman, the "50-per-cent-a-month banker," who is charged with appropriating money entrusted to her for investment without security, and which is said to exceed $500,000. The woman's revelations brought about the arrest of nine persons who were held in $2000 bail each, and warrants were issued for five others.

Mrs. Hyman told of those who worked with her to fleece the public, how they advanced her money to further the scheme and how hundreds of persons had been brought in by her with their savings through tales of high interest spread by those co-operating with her.

Mrs. Hyman charged that certain persons, who had obtained large sums of money from her and were expecting an exposure of the swindle, tried to drown her in Oyster Bay. After she had been rescued by life savers and had recovered, she alleged, $6000 had been taken from her pocketbook by her companions.

CHARLES ROCK ON TRIAL FOR KILLING HIS WIFE

The trial of Charles Rock, a plain mill proprietor, who shot and killed his wife, Minnie, at their home, 2802 Shenandoah avenue, July 12 last, was begun in Judge Rasmussen's court today.

Rock's children, Lillian, 18, Eleanor, 15, Ruth, 12, and Jerome, 9, were in court, and it was said by Charles P. Johnson and Simon A. Bass, attorneys for the defendant, that they were expected to testify in their father's behalf and that the defense would be that Mrs. Rock's treatment of her husband had caused him to become insane.

The shooting followed a quarrel, in which Rock objected to his daughters, Eleanor and Ruth, being trained for the stage. The girls were then appearing in vaudeville at Lexington, Mo., and in the course of the quarrel Mrs. Rock said she would leave home and join them. Rock departed from the house, but returned a few minutes later and demanded admittance to get his clothes. Mrs. Rock called Policeman Calk, who arrested Rock.

The policeman was holding Rock when he drew a revolver from his trousers pocket and shot his wife.

GIRLS! IT'S CHEAP! USE LEMON JUICE TO MAKE A LOTION

Nothing else bleaches the skin so white and beautiful or creates such a clear, spotless complexion.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin bleach, skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of fine chard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. It really will bleach and remove such blemishes as pimples, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier which absorbs readily and is not sticky or greasy.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this harmless lemon lotion and apply it daily to the face, neck, arms and hands. It really does soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough red hands.—ADV.

MOTIVE SEARCHED FOR IN MURDER OF COLLEGE STUDENT

Doctor Held at Army Post for Crime at New Brunswick,
N. J., Makes No Statement.

ONE CLEW RECEIVED

Authorities Obtain Lead Which
They Believe May Unravel
Mystery of Case.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 20.—No motive has been discovered as yet for the murder of John Vincent Piper, graduate student at Rutgers College, whose body was found near Brunswick, N. J., Saturday after he had been missing since February. Dr. William J. Condon, a Captain in the United States Army medical corps at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., is under guard there, charged with the murder.
Dr. Condon refused to say anything about the charge.

In announcing the arrest yesterday Prosecutor Joseph E. Stricker of Mid-dlessex said the order for it was based on evidence tending to show that Dr.
Condon shot and killed Piper on the night of Feb. 12 last, dragged the body into the cellar of his home at New Brunswick and concealed it there until just before he started for Fort Oglethorpe last Friday. The Prosecutor's suspicions have been directed toward Dr. Condon ever since Piper dropped out of sight, within an hour after he had gone to the physician's home, where he took care of the furnace. But no search of the cellar was made until after the young man's body was found last Saturday morning at the side of a road 12 miles from New Brunswick.

Negro Detained as Witness.
The only witness detained is a negro,
who informed the authorities six weeks ago that he had seen a body lying in the doctor's cellar. The detective who went there to investigate did not enter the cellar, but sent the negro in. The negro came out with the information that the body was not there any more. The Prosecutor says there is unmistakable evidence that the body was dragged across the cellar floor from one hiding place to another.

Suggestions that were made after the disappearance of Piper are being renewed. Coroner Hubbard, who is aiding Stricker and his detectives, was called to the telephone Monday night by a man who gave indirect information which may help to establish a motive. But the story is of a character so difficult to confirm that neither the Prosecutor nor the Coroner will disclose it. They take the attitude that they should make possible nothing involving anyone's reputation until absolutely sure of their ground.

Coroner Hubbard questioned Mrs. Condon yesterday. She told him that she knew Piper slightly, commented on the fact that he seemed to be above the average of men employed to take care of furnaces, and said that so far as she had knowledge he had never been in any part of the house except the cellar. She told that Mrs. Piper came to the house after the disappearance. Dr.
Condon, she said, told her the woman was Mrs. Piper. Mrs. Condon broke down when informed that her husband was charged with the murder.
When Piper's body was found on the Spottswood-Englishtown road one of the first things noticed was that it had been sprinkled with chloride of lime.
When the physician's automobile was seized by the prosecutor it was splashed with mud similar to that at the place where the body was found. Bits of lime were on the cushion of the machine.

Lime Found in Cellar.
With this evidence in hand there was no longer hesitation about entering the cellar of the Condon home. There the detectives found a large bag of chloride of lime, some of which had been used.
It was sprinkled on the floor and over pieces of clothing lying there. In a closet was found a pair of shoes, the soles covered with mud. The investigators say these shoes were worn recently and that mud on them is similar to that about the place where the body was found.

Dr. Condon's automobile plays a large part in the investigation to fix responsibility for the crime. Prosecutor Stricker has an affidavit from a witness who says he saw a machine similar in appearance going along the Englishtown road. Photographs were taken of it yesterday and the witness will be asked to identify them. The machine is impounded in the garage of Coroner Hubbard.

The only other physical evidence Stricker has, he says, is the bullet found in Piper's body. It is of .32-caliber. A few days after the disappearance of Piper a .32-caliber revolver was found in a yard half a block from where Dr.
Condon lived. The prosecutor said yesterday examination showed that it had been recently discharged.

Coroner Hubbard said neither he nor Stricker had found anyone who ever had seen in Dr. Condon's possession a revolver like that with which it is believed Piper was killed.

A New Thrill For Blase Motorists

Willys
KNIGHT
Cleeve-Valve Motor

Driving a Willys-Knight is a greater enjoyment than the novelty of your first car.

It registers an altogether new and different motoring experience.

While many motors perform well when new, the Willys-Knight retains its maximum efficiency, in fact grows better with use.

Can you conceive of a greater boon?
It explains why the passive tolerance of many motorists has been changed into active enthusiasm by the Willys-Knight.

One veteran motorist says his car glides as smoothly and evenly as though there was a vacuum in front of the radiator instead of the powerful and faithful Willys-Knight motor back of it.

Begin now to enjoy the motor-advantages obtainable from this motor that makes beneficial use of carbon; that thrives on carbon; that for thousands of miles grows stronger, and more flexible through carbon;
that never needs carbon cleaning and valve grinding to "set it up."

Come in and see us about it.

"The Will of the Majority Should Prevail"

THIS well-known American motto finds a striking proof in the general endorsement of Firestone Tires. The "will of the majority" is for Firestone and public opinion has prevailed to the extent that Firestone Tires have demand and sale wherever motorists travel.

The Firestone super-size Cord Tire is preeminent for strength with liveliness and instant road grip. You travel in utmost luxury with the usual reliability of Firestone and the economy of "Most Miles per Dollar."

The builder's name, "Firestone" is on every tire; this is another advantage. You gain, also, by the fact that 11,000 Firestone employees are stockholders in the business.

Each feels it a personal duty to see that Firestone Tires are worthy of the commanding

ST. LOUIS MAY LET CHAMPIONSHIPS GO, FUND ROCKS $4000

National A. A. U. Heads Threaten to Give Big Meet to Boston or Chicago.

MONEY NOT YET IN SIGHT

President Tom Watts Will Make Final Effort This Week to Raise the $5000.

Urgent messages from Secretary F. W. Rubien, of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, have been received by President Tom Watts, of the Western District A. A. U. asking as to the status of the national championships, awarded to this city last winter.

Messages state that other cities want to take over the event if St. Louis is ready to abandon the award it fought so hard to land.

President Watts, when asked concerning the matter today, stated that he had been trying to raise the $5000 guarantee, but thus far had not been able to get satisfaction. He reported lukewarm interest toward the event.

Thus far the only certain guarantee in sight is $1000 offered by the Missouri Athletic Association. The requirement is $5000.

"I attempted to enlist Red Cross interest in the matter," Watts said this morning, "but the heads of that body are not willing to undertake the management of the event, although the proceeds would be acceptable. I am convinced that if the championships were promoted by this organization, at least $5000 worth of tickets could be sold."

"I will make an appeal to the publicity departments of the Business Men's League and the Conventions Bureau. If I get any encouragement I will go ahead with the arrangements. I do not see the $5000 in sight, at the end of the week, I will have to wire Secretary Rubien to take the event off his hands. This means that we will not again be awarded the games for several years."

Boston or Philadelphia may have the honor of holding the amateur athletic Union National tracks and field championships if St. Louis fails to make possible to finance the big meet, according to New York dispatches.

Pending the receipt of definite information that St. Louis has abandoned all the games, Secretary Rubien, who is chairman of the Championships Committee, will make an announcement concerning the whereabouts of the 1917 meet; but if St. Louis passes up the games, the Championships Committee will take a mail vote on the question and make the award, which will include the junior, senior and all-around track and field title competitions.

Date Will Be Advanced.

When the annual convention of the Union decided that the 1917 games should be held in St. Louis, the Championships Committee decided on Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and Sept. 3 as the dates for the three sets of games; but in view of the fact that the date for the draft of conscripts for the new army is scheduled to take place on Sept. 1, that time, it is more than likely that the committee will vote to hold the games two weeks earlier than the time originally. This will bring the meet in the middle of August.

New York will probably not get the big meet because of the apparent lack of athletes in the Metropolitan area. With most of the college stars already in training, they would have a hard time.

Boston has not had the meet in many years, but with the Harvard stadium available almost at all times, it is felt that New England would welcome having the games this summer, although it was intimated at the annual meeting of the Union last November that New England would wait to wait until 1919 before holding the meet.

Plank Ready to Resume Pitching; Brown Improve

But Six-Game Series With the Tigers, Opening Today, Is Hardest of Trip.

DETROIT, Mich., June 20.—While the Browns managed to hold their own in the 14 games played on their Eastern jaunt, just closed, they drop into no soft spot, in beginning a six-game series with the Tigers, in the den of the junglemen today.

The Tigers, like the Browns, have just completed their first swing through the East and fared better than any of the Western clubs. In their last 18 games the Tigers won 12 but, for the most part, they have been out of the hands of Walter Johnson in Washington yesterday, would have been tied for fourth place with the Cleveland club.

To make matters more annoying, the Tigers have been winning because of good pitching, not because of the usual good slugging by the players of this club. Because Jennings' hurlers have been pitching pretty sound ball, it is predicted that the Tigers will be in the pennant hunt before long as the club is naturally a hard-hitting one, but has not found its stride in this department as yet.

Plank is here with the Browns, and Burns, first baseman, who have been out of the game lately because of lame throats, came home ahead of the regular yesterday, and will likely be in the game today, giving Jennings his most formidable lineup.

Doubleheader in Sight.

It hasn't been decided when the doubleheader will be played. Two unplayed games remain from the last call of the Browns to Detroit. One of these will be played today, an open date in the schedule for both clubs, but it will be necessary to doubleheader on the other.

MISS SCULLIN TO PLAY MISS GOULD IN FINALS OF STATE NET TOURNAMENT

In the semi-finals of the women's State netball championship, Miss Scullin of the Forest Park Golf Club defeated Miss Lettie Le Baume in straight sets, 6-4 and 6-4.

Miss Scullin had a more strenuous task, taking the odd set in three from Miss Helen Johnston, 3-2 and 6-4. This was the longest and the best match of the tournament.

In the finals of the consolation, Miss Catherine Cranden defeated Miss Janice Alberg in straight sets, 6-3 and 6-4.

New York Leader's Written Denial of Attacks on Tener Accepted by League.

WAS "ON CARPET" IN 1916

Again, in 1911, He Was Censured for Charging a World's Series Frame-Up.

"Whitewashed again?" was the prevailing sentiment in baseball circles today, following the announcement from New York that John J. "Batting" McGraw had been exonerated by the directors of the National League, after submitting a written denial of the Pittsburgh interviews, in which he was quoted as heaping abuse on President Tener.

It is held that the directors took the "easiest way," accepting McGraw's statements without having called in rebuttal the reporters who went out the interviews from Pittsburgh.

It is argued that the National League believes it could ill afford to lose either McGraw or the New York club; and the statement seems to be borne out by the many previous appeals to spectators of calumny to the New York manager and his offenses, in the past.

Only last year McGraw took refuge in the denial form of proving his case. That was when he accused his players of not giving their best efforts in an important series with Brooklyn. McGraw denied the letter of the charges. The case was stepped by President Tener, who stated that the affair was a mere matter of discipline between McGraw and his players. Tener overlooked the reflection cast on the integrity of the game by the alleged utterances of McGraw.

Commission Censured McGraw.

In 1911 during the world's championship series, McGraw again jeopardized the good standing of the national game by directing scurrilous remarks at the box occupied by the members of the National Commission, making allusions that indicated the game was an "inside job" and that McGraw was the "boss" of the league. McGraw's brother-in-law was put in as umpire to make the game "square" and the National Commission formally censured McGraw for this. Fred Merkle was fined $100 for supporting McGraw on the same occasion.

According to advices from New York, McGraw recently gave the baseball reporters a bitter tongue lashing as "lying circulators of scandal" and "spinning out of their own heads" the "inside job" story.

Many of the reporters so accused have been supporting McGraw as the "donor" of the "inside job" story, and are now being "punished" by the National League as if they were the "inside job" story.

Monday one of the most ardent McGraw supporters published an editorial in which it was charged that the National League did not dare punish McGraw as it did. President Hengeman immediately abandoned the National League and took his team barnstorming about the country. Without the National League receipts, the other clubs of the organization could not exist.

According to the Post-Dispatch's New York correspondent, McGraw yesterday only to present his written denial to be absolved. The denial was couched in the following terms:

McGraw's Detailed Denial.

To the Board of Directors of the National League:

"Gentlemen: I have this day read for the first time certain scurrilous newspaper articles under the date of June 14 purporting to contain the statement of the National League president, Mr. John J. McGraw, and its president, John J. Tener.

After having read carefully I desire to state that I did not make any statement of the kind mentioned in the articles referred to. I am not a member of the National League and I am not a member of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs. I am not a member of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs and I am not a member of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

McGraw was in the interior of league headquarters and remained there for three hours, it was stated. However, it was not until the morning of June 14 that he was called into the presence of the league and its president, Mr. John J. Tener.

Wray's Column

Passing of the Black Dynasty.

The longest arm of Porus-Plasterer Fred Fulton brought to what appears to be its close, the career of the leader of the famous quartet of negro fighters, whose prowess caused Jess Willard to interchase behind the color line.

Middle-aged Sam, whose recent efforts have been devoted to cultivating a pet watermelon on his front elevation has not been in physical condition fit for a championship fight in half a dozen or more campaigns. He is still under 40, and has been fighting a matter of 17 years or so. It is possible that he under the mated Fulton and went in unprepared.

It is far more probable, however, that "Them" and his formidable wallop have passed out for good.

Despite his color, that never flinched from the firing line, always stuck to his guns, even when the opponent was rough, was willing to fight any way to the top of the mountain, that one black champion and two white ones, in a bout with champion dog against him.

Tommy Burns, his conqueror, "Willard," enthusiastically "rejoiced" when to consider Samuel as a title factor.

Keep Up the Good Work.

The recent legislation against the "bean ball" in baseball, and the stymie in golf, reminds one that the mills of the gods are slowly grinding out their crop of improvement—but very slowly. There still remain a number of changes in various branches of sport that ought to be taken care of. Among the features that could be dispensed with are:

1. Checking in the boxing game.
2. Safety play in pocket and other forms of billiards.
3. Scoring from fumbles recovered by the defense in football.
4. The hammer throw in track and field events.
5. The no-substitute rule in soccer football.
6. Four-mile races, in college soccer football.
7. Smoking at all indoor athletic events.

None of these features can be successfully defended against one or more serious charges, ranging from uselessness to positive danger.

The first two are not necessary and spoil the game for the spectator; the third is a positive danger to the game; the fourth is a positive danger to the game; the fifth is a positive danger to the game; the sixth is a positive danger to the game; the seventh is a positive danger to the game.

Look for some rare word battles before the reformers get their effect, however. If each speaker that argued for or against these points gave a cent a word, the $7,000,000,000 war loan would be over subscribed before the debate had fairly begun.

The Day of the Scrub.

THIS is the year of the second scrub. All the moles of the collegiate athletic world will come up for a blink at the light. For the "mole" is the word that will have a place in the sun next fall.

The national collegiate association meets in August it will almost to a certainty, decline on continuing athletic sports at the moment. But it may be imagined that the teams will be lacking in stars and in strength; but that's the very reason why they have gone forward. Development of new talent is the best service schools can do.

Many universities hold that the teams will be lacking in stars and in strength; but that's the very reason why they have gone forward. Development of new talent is the best service schools can do.

Steel and Other Standard Shares Reflect Pressure After a Firm Opening.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"After an irregular opening, a sharp and general decline occurred on the Stock Exchange today, attributable in part to the 6 per cent money rate which was ruling, and in part, no doubt, to the confusion which surrounds the question of a strike on the part of the steel workers."

"Losses of 1 or 2 points were numerous during this downward movement; the industrial shares naturally leading in both activity and depression, but with the railway shares affected also. In the afternoon an irregular recovery ensued, but the day ended generally lower."

"It may be said of the present market, that its disposition is to discount the industrial activity and earning power, but that it is far from taking into account the progress of the war with the United States."

"The Government's weekly bulletin of crop and industrial conditions, published by the fact that Government prices of steel products are being made a political football in Congress, with no outcome yet from the jumble of price fixing by conflicting departments, boards and committees."

"Many producers have adopted the policy of simply refusing to sell at the current market price, and it may be imagined that this would hardly check the excited bidding for the output of other mills, and is evident that foreign governments are still participating in such building ships."

The Post-Dispatch Daily Short Story

His Real Adventure

By Dorothy Tyroler.

Each year, from the first week of August to the second week of the following July, Rufus Witherby worked in the "Better Store." For 18 years, since he had left high school, these 10 weeks in the city were passed in the same manner. He lived in a boarding house, where he was in such dread of "Mrs. Duffy, the landlady," that he had not the courage to remove. He was at Mrs. Duffy's so long that he came to know exactly what would be served at each meal and exactly how much would be served to each boarder. Every day he went to the "Better Store" and poured over accounts until closing time, when he would return "home" and to his room. The boarders wondered what this shy, taciturn man did every evening. Mrs. Duffy surmised that he read ancient history and Greek verses and this deduction of the facts was generally accepted.

As a matter of fact, Silent Rufus, as his acquaintances called him, did read every night, but ancient history and Greek verse were not in his line. He read novels and stories of adventure. Rufus' daytime occupations did not make up his life, he really never was living until the evenings, when he read of glorious heroes and imagined himself in their places.

Rufus had worshiped many women in novels, although he was never known to give the slightest thought to any living woman. For years he thought of these charming ladies only as dreams, which could never be lived in real life.

The first two weeks of every July, Rufus went to the country for a vacation. He went to different places each year according to the locality in which his latest lady love was pictured in her particular novel.

One year he would sit on the beach at moonlight imagining "Gwendolyn" at his side; while another time he took swimming lessons because "Jane" was a marvelous swimmer.

You may consider Rufus a fickle lover, but you see, after he had returned a book to the library that lady's influence would gradually lessen, until he would find another ideal and then the former would be almost entirely forgotten.

One summer, Rufus found himself without any heroine to cherish. He asked Mrs. Duffy's advice and so found himself at her brother's lonely farm up state.

While Rufus was walking along the dusty road one day he suddenly heard the swift thud of a horse's hoofs. He saw a horse rushing madly down the road towards him, a young woman clinging in terror to its neck. Rufus' first and only thought was to go to her rescue. He threw himself before the horse, and seizing the bridle, brought it to a standstill.

Fearful lest the girl should embarrass him by too much praise, before she had a chance to speak he panted: "Don't mention it! It was nothing at all, I assure you!"

"Nothing at all!" she cried excitedly. "Well, I never! Oh, Charles!" she called to a man who had sprung out from a clump of trees near by. "Just look at this man! He stopped my horse when it was going like mad and he says it's nothing—nothing at all! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

She was laughing hysterically. Rufus had never met with living hysterics before, all that he had known of had been treated very mildly in his books. So he turned and quietly walked away.

"A real adventure, a real adventure," kept ringing in Rufus' head. He had not only rescued a woman from death perhaps, but he had rescued an enchantingly beautiful woman who was hysterically grateful to him. Rufus was elated; he had never felt so happy, so perfectly contented before.

Two weeks were spent in utter bliss by Rufus. When he arrived home on Sunday just in time for the midday dinner, each of the 17 boarders hurled a question at him regarding his vacation. This did not seem to annoy Rufus at all and he took his time, for he had found out long before that if he neglected to answer any question to the full satisfaction of the inquirer that it would be repeated again every meal until his day. So after stating that he had had a very enjoyable time, Rufus prepared to settle down to a hearty meal and to permit his friends to examine and criticize his appearance.

Then Rufus heard Mrs. Duffy saying to her neighbor: "Of course, Mr. Witherby had a fine vacation. Didn't he stop a runaway and rescue a fine lady? Didn't you, though?" she ended, turning to that embarrassed man.

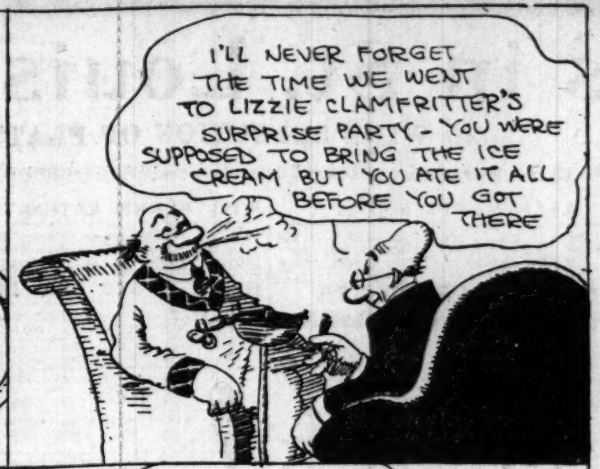

"Where did you hear of that, Mrs. Duffy?" he replied.

"I read it this very morning in last Sunday's paper. I never do get the time to read them 'til they're that old that the news is all stale. But if you haven't seen it yourself, I'll go find it," she continued as she left the room to fetch the paper.

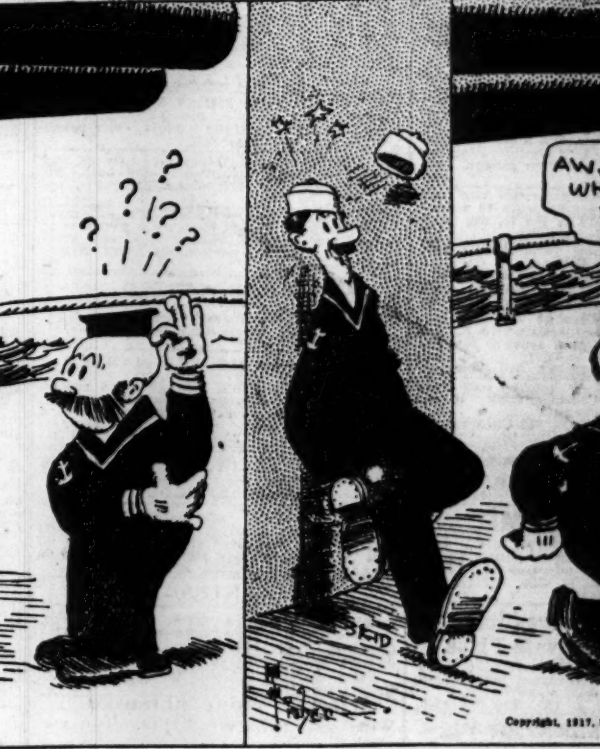

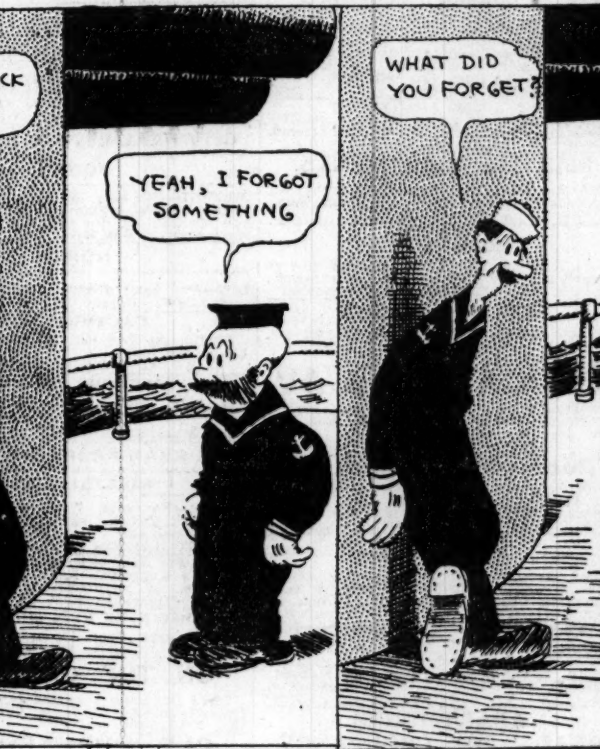

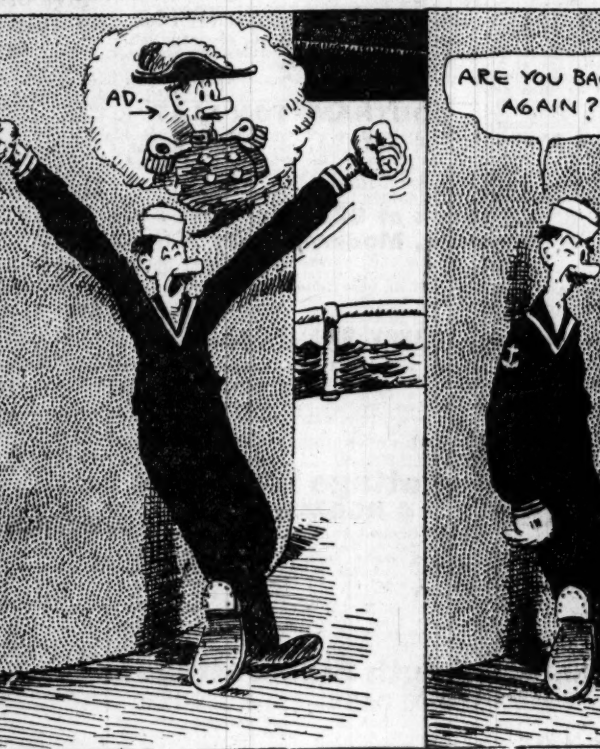

Rufus was bombarded with questions, because no one else had heard of the item. He was finally prevailed upon to tell them of his adventure.

"You see," he began, "I was walking along a deserted road when I heard the beat of a horse's hoofs and cries for help. I saw a large horse rushing wildly towards me with a beautiful woman clinging to its neck. She was completely terrified, so I sprang forward and seizing the bridle, I stopped the brute after being dragged several yards. I was just in time because we had come to a turn in the road which led to a deep ravine."

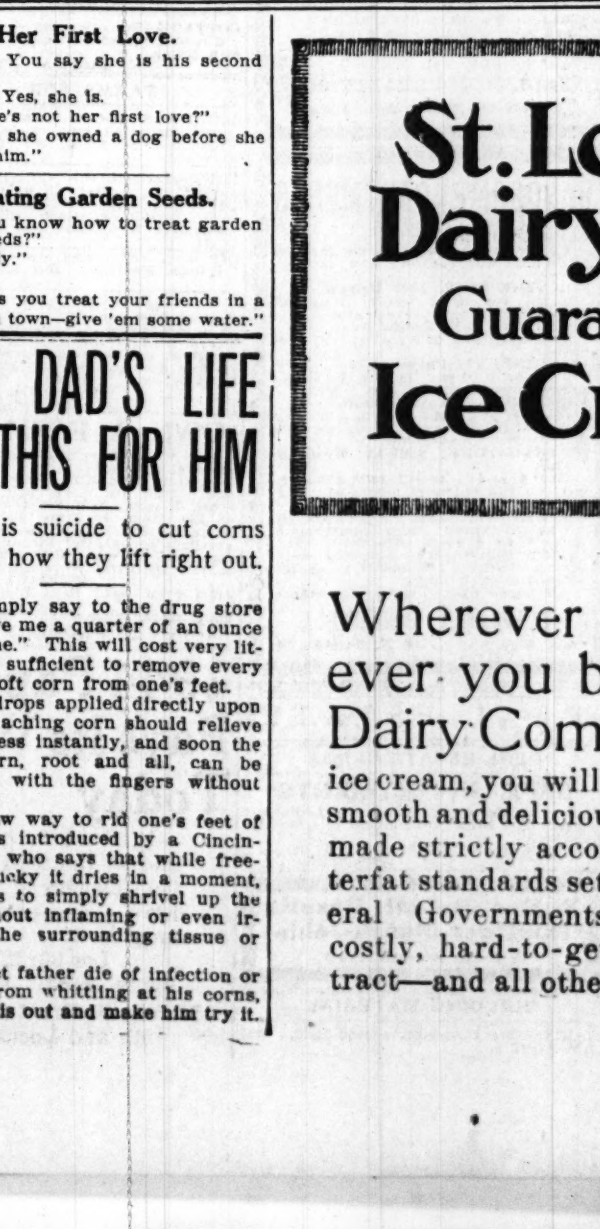

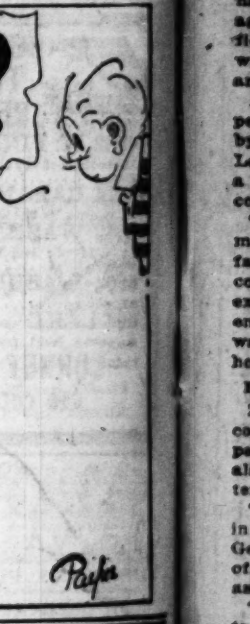

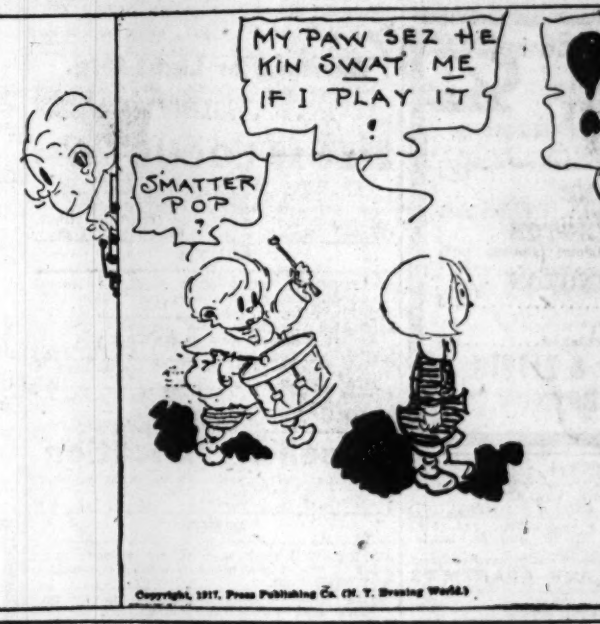

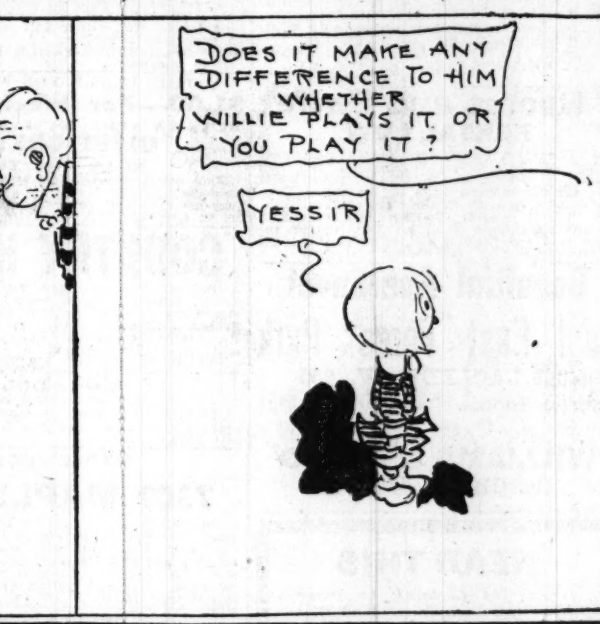

Rufus was very doubtful about ravines, but there might have been one in the vicinity and it certainly decorated his tale nicely. "It—it was very exciting," he ended lamely. His listeners were speechless with surprise. Rufus was a hero—a hero in a real adventure.

The Sandman Story for To-night

BY MRS. F. A. WALKER.

TABBY AND THE DUCKS

TABBY CAT was not very old, or she would have been a wiser kitten. She was just at the age when kittens are fond of playing tricks or frightening others just to have fun. Tabby Cat used to think it great fun to run into the barnyard and jump at the chickens and ducks, making them to waddle as fast as they could to their mother.

To be sure, the old hens and ducks were not afraid of Tabby Cat, and sometimes Tabby Cat was chased and pecked at, but she could run faster than they could and had never been cured of her tricks.

One day the little ducks were playing near the pond when Tabby Cat ran among them, switching her tail and jumping about until the little ducklings were scared nearly out of their wits for their mother was not there to protect them.

Their only safety was to go on the pond, and Tabby Cat, seeing a boat by the bank, jumped into it and stood forgetting that she did not like the water and did not swim.

The ducklings were safe now, so they looked back at Tabby Cat and quacked.

Adventures. She was naturally greatly annoyed at being interrupted in her work. The gentleman in question also spoiled many feet of film. We presume that he will be surprised to learn that he was in a reel adventure."

"I would not be in this awful place if I had kept away from the barnyard. We are going home to dinner," called the ducklings as they swam past Tabby. "You will have a long walk, Miss Tabby. It is a long distance around this pond." Tabby did not feel like fun just then; she wanted her dinner. "Me-ow, me-ow," she cried.

"Will you promise never to jump at us again and frighten us if we help you?" asked one duckling.

"How can you help me?" asked Tabby, not quite willing to give in.

"We will get someone to help bring you home," said the duckling. "But you will have to promise first."

"All right, I promise," said Tabby Cat, thinking of the saucer of milk waiting for her at home.

Away sailed the ducklings and Tabby Cat wondered if they had tricked her, but when they reached the barnyard they began to quack so loudly that the farm boy ran down to the pond to see what had happened.

Thinking a big eel or some water creature had frightened the ducklings, he rushed to the pond. Then, seeing the boat on the other side of the pond, he untied a boat that was fastened and rowed across.

"Hello, Tabby Cat," he said as Tabby meowed mournfully at him. "How did you come over here? Jump in and I'll take you home."

Tabby Cat did not wait to be called a second time; she jumped in with the farmboy, and soon was safe in the barnyard; but she did not stop to have any fun; she ran straight for the kitchen, where dinner was waiting.

Many a time Tabby Cat has started for the ducklings and chicks when their mother was not near, but each time she thought of her promise and how the ducklings helped her and, though it had been very hard to resist having fun with them, Tabby Cat has kept her promise.

BEULAH: Yes, she is.
"Then he's not her first love?"

Treating Garden Seeds.
"Do you know how to treat garden seeds?"
"Certainly."
"How?"
"Same as you treat your friends in a prohibition town—give 'em some water."

SAVE DAD'S LIFE GET THIS FOR HIM
Says it is suicide to cut corns and tells how they lift right out.

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of frezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while frezone is sticky it dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or "kiss" from whitening at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.—ADV.
